FRIDAY, MARCH 5, 1915

Congress has adjourned and there will be no extraordinary session.

Senator Atlee Pomerene of Ohio will deliver the commencement address of the Cincinnati law school May 28. The senator also accepted the invitation to attend the annual banquet of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick at Cincinnati March 17.

Ground was broken in Arlington cemetery at Washington, D. C., Monday for the new national amphitheater recently authorized by congress. Worth Bagley Daniels, son of the secretary of the navy, turned the first spadeful of earth.

Theodore E. Burton of Cleveland retired from the United States senate on Thursday. He is recognized the country over as being one of the ablest men who have served in the upper branch of the national legislature. As he is only 63 years of age he is likely to be heard from further politically.

The Studebaker corporation, which manufactures farm machinery and automobiles, in its annual report for 1914 shows net profits of $4,411,966, an increase of $2,669,492, or more than 150 per cent, over the first record made the previous year. That report does not read like hard times. Why is it not a pretty fair indication of good times now?

Representative Arthur Merkle of Cuyahoga has a bill that outlaws shooting irons, knives, blackjacks, and other deadly weapons and makes their possession a misdemeanor for manufacturer, dealer or individual. It also outlaws the use of any device for muffling the report of a pistol or gun. Court permission must be obtained to own or carry a weapon or to buy a pistol, gun or ammunition.

The liquor traffic continues to keep things stirred up in the Ohio legislature. The McDermott bill was strangled and other measures along the same line are traveling rocky roads. There is a plan now to cut the pay of license commissioners in every county, making the places less attractive. Under the new schedule the job would be worth only $1200 a year to each commissioner in this populous county of Mahoning while in some of the small counties the pay would be a paltry $40 a month. At that, there may be a scramble for the jobs, because they are public, you know.

According to a correspondent at the national capital the republican presidential campaign is to be launched from headquarters to be established in Washington at once. What is termed an educational campaign is to be prosecuted in every state in the union. Heavy republican guns will be trained upon the administration in the hope of stirring up discontent with President Wilson and his policies. And while this is going on efforts will be made to bring together all elements of opposition to the democratic party. A cool million is to be used in the preliminary campaign. Among the names of members of the executive committee to conduct the campaign is that of Dan R. Hanna of Cleveland.

A movement has been launched to form the 89th county in the state by splitting Stark and Wayne counties and making Massillon the county seat. Stark county is the sixth largest in the state in the matter of population, and is the only one in the state having three large cities, Canton, Alliance and Massillon. The latter city is to be commended for her desire to become a county seat but she is likely to come no nearer than did Alliance some 40 years ago when she sought the organization of a new county by taking parts of Stark, Portage, Columbiana and Mahoning counties. That was about the time the agitation was at its height to remove the county seat from Canfield to Youngstown. The Youngstown boomers manifested great interest in the plan because it caught hundreds of votes in the southwestern part of the county for removal, the belief being general that the removal of the seat of justice to Youngstown would make certain the formation of a new county with Alliance the capital. But after the Youngstown boomers had accomplished the end desired they lost all interest in the proposed new county, so the project died aborning. And that in all probability will be the fate of the hope Massillon citizens are nursing. The chopping up of counties is not easy of accomplishment.

To the Housewife.

Madam, if your husband is like most men he expects you to look after the health of yourself and children. Coughs and colds are the most common of the minor ailments and are most likely to lead to serious diseases. A child is much more likely to contract diphtheria or scarlet fever when it has a cold. If you will inquire into the merits of the various remedies that are recommended for coughs and colds, you will find that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy stands high in the estimation of people who use it. It is prompt and effective, pleasant and safe to take, which are qualities especially to be desired when a medicine is intended for children. For sale by all dealers.—Adv.

"I Don't Feel Good"

That's what a lot of people tell us. Usually their bowels only need clearing. Renall Orderlies will do the trick and make you feel fine. We know this positively. Take one tonight. Sold only by us, 10 cents.

YOUNGSTOWN

An item going the rounds and relative to the good regard Mark Twain expressed for the Devil, Mark Twain would pen a defense of his Satanistic Majesty and have it printed in the Register, publisher, recalls the days of John M. Webb and naturally in that connection Uncle Billy Dawson, Lawyers Van Hyning, William G. (Rory) Moore, Hon. D. M. Wilson, Billy and Sheriff Nathaniel Callahan, A. Justice, A. F. Moore, Jared Maxey, Hon. Moses Burky (one time mayor of Canfield), Hon. L. D. Woodworth, Hass Ewing, George Ward, Hon. Eben Newton and other pioneers, most of them now with the vast silent majority. Years ago when the Daily News, really newsy—a dainty folio—was published here it was edited by Harry Shawab and edited by Mr. Webb. The paper was published in basement, likely under Browne's dry goods store on West Federal near Hazel. Along then a communication blew in with an eloquent defense of fire and brimstone King Beelzebub. In order to encourage and keep up the novelty Mr. Webb wrote and printed a pungent and logically reply, and thus it appears the News controversy, carried on for some considerable time, much antedated the similar desired publication by Mark. All the veteran lawyers and others named in this paragraph are dead with the single exception of Mr. Burky, who looks and likely is as hale and hearty as 40 years ago.

It is almost a wonder the tons and tons of candy and shelled salted peanuts sold here, very largely in the 5 and 10c stores, where you may get a pound of either for 10c, the candy in great variety and excellent quality, often costing three or four times as much in other establishments. The fruit stands selling salted peanuts sold most of them from the 5 and 10c stores, putting a pound up into perhaps 8 or a dozen little paper bags selling for a nickel each. The fact is these 5 and 10c stores supply many establishments with goods for retail. Many milliners are reported to buy an abundance of 5 and 10c flowers and ribbons, for which they may ask five or six times the original cost. It is something like it is in the City Market when it patronized by the reason so few American ladies will condescend to carry home their grocery or market wagon or stand purchase. These delicate fair ones find it sufficiently fatiguing to write out or remember a list of what they want and telephone it in. However, and then on pleasant market days one may see some few ladies there in their automobiles, but mighty few of them walk it or hoof it. Nearly all the women who regularly patronize the market are foreigners, or women born and reared in the old countries of Europe. They are neither ashamed to carry away armfuls of haul away stocks of produce in little wagons. And they are the very deuce to buy chickens, ducks and geese. They also buy a lot of stuff many call outlandish, such stuff as salsify, okra, garlic, Swiss-chard, kohlrabi, romaine, endive and other growths Americans seldom come across. They will indulge in. However, gardeners in this vicinity and perhaps throughout the county are raising a greater variety of vegetables than ever before, for much of it takes much space or care, and usually finds ready sale on market days. Any old thing is likely to find a customer or go out into the fields or along the fences and pick elderberries, and take them into town and they go like hot cakes. The same is true of poke greens that grow wild in the fields and woods. Some old men and boys here in season pick up a dollar or so a day picking mint, maybuds up Mill Creek, and selling it in bunches to saloons. They also sell wildflowers, bouquets and ferns, that may be had in season in abundance for the picking.

According to statistics the local municipal court, whose criminal judge is Michael B. Welsh and civil judge Herman Brandmiller, last year 700 cases were filed that would ordinarily be tried in common pleas. It is also shown cases are disposed of far more quickly and that the higher local or county courts are greatly relieved. Municipal judges, with more power than justices of the peace, whose suits could involve no more than $300, try cases with amounts up to $1,000, such units for damages as well as on accounts. Here the municipal court has been in operation for 14 months and has made quite a renovation, cleaning out a bunch of hangers-on—agitators existing litigation, interpreters and other barnacles. Unlike some justice courts, the many judges discourages litigation, some justices going on the fact or theory the more cases the more fees. The many judges here strive to keep down costs and also try to avert lawsuits—to secure compromises or outside-of-court settlements, making the court emphatically the people's court. The court has been more than self-supporting, the surplus being $7,500. Judge Brandmiller disposed of 2,600 cases last year and Judge Welsh between 8,000 and 9,000. City Solicitor George Carew has given the court high praise for fairness, efficiency and expedition, and says it is the best city department, aside from the city waterworks, that has been self-supporting, the civil branch breaking even and the criminal paying expenses and the surplus already given.

Ralph P. Wells of this city has taken on a number of beautiful photographic views of Mill Creek, Yellow Creek and adjacent scenery, selecting scenes that are usually overlooked or neglected. He is certainly an artist with the camera. Christ Mission, chiefly earnest in the education of foreigners, is doing good work along that line. The mission is in the East End, in Dodd's alley. The pupils are from all walks of life, but of course the great majority are manual toilers; however, among them are some musicians, and even bank clerks. They are schooled five nights a week. There are 80 or 60 teachers who instruct in English, American history, good citizenship, civics, the Constitution, the Senate, Ohio, etc. This school was founded this year in one night was 157 and an attendance of 124 is considered low. Twenty-three nationalities are represented, but Italians are in the majority with others in this order—Greeks, Russians, Slavs, etc. The work has been splendidly organized by Miss Noll and Mr. Lane.

It is evident Youngstown is some coffee-drinker. Joseph L. Heffernan has ascertained and incorporated into a readable interesting special article the fact that this city yearly consumes 1,000,000 pounds of the berry beverage that, like tea, does not inebriate. The figures were furnished by Robert E. Baldwin, superintendent of the John H. Fitch Co. coffee department, making the average consumption 10 pounds yearly for every man, woman and child in the city. In the U. S., according to Mr. Baldwin, the total consumption is 1,000,000,000. The Fitch Co. alone has a roasting capacity of 12,000 pounds daily, or 3,720,000 a year of 310 working days. Wm. E. Lewis, the Vindicator court reporter, puts up some very engaging gossip headed "Under Court House Dome." In addition to his newspaper work he is studying law and has also been active in politics and city improvements, making capital speeches formal or impromptu.

Last Friday evening in a meeting of the Up-to-Date club, addressed principally by Single-taxer John Z. White of Chicago, there was more fun with the hot hide or hedgehog spines than one could shake a stick at. White as a single-taxer is as ardent as Billy Radcliffe and just rips and tears the present method of taxation from collar to heel. He said among many things that the minority tells the truth and the majority follow later. He says all that's necessary is to tax the land. That'd remedy all evils and usher in an unprecedented era of prosperity. That conclusion was endorsed by some of his audience after he had concluded and when remarks and questions were in order. Among those taking part were a lawyer and a pungent philosopher. The lawyer, when asked if two men made a hotfoot at the same time for the same piece of desirable real estate, both landing on it at the same time, which of them should be preferred? The man of Blackstone said in reply that he supposed that it was a case similar to the questions, the philosophers, who coming drunk down Federal street demanded the entire right of way. Then the philosopher arose. He was calm and imperturbable. He said: "It is unfortunately true I have now and then been intoxicated. But there is this marked difference between us—between you and I—the lawyer got on his feet, you understand. 'There is this difference between you and I: When I am sober I am sane. But you are always crazy.' Then you should have heard, not them boasters, but them Up-to-Daters yell! Among the gentlemen who took part in the debate was Attorney George Edwards, deputized by Chairman C. S. Robinson to oppositely reply to Mr. White. The joke will be appreciated when you are old attorney Edwards is an ardent Single Taxer himself. He said he was in full accord with Mr. White and refused to wade into him. Others taking a plunge into the argumentative pool were Frank Midway, David G. Jenkins, Edwin Markey, Rev. A. F. Walls, Attorney Horace Smith, Attorney S. L. Clarke, Jewell G. Gown, Vindicator special and ex-secretary of the chamber of commerce and Attorney D. F. Anderson. Mr. White had said: "The man who enters a list of his property holdings upon the tax duplicate under the present system is either a fool or a liar." Mr. Anderson accepted the answer as a palpable hit when he added, "There are very few fools in Ohio." The topic in the next meeting will be "Shall the Warnes Law Be Repealed or Modified?" O. E. Dier affirming and City Solicitor George Carew denying.

There has been considerable local yelling about many being out of work and nearly frantic to get it but it would seem there is not such strenuous yearning after all, for the National Employment bureau, offering free service to get jobs for the jobless, has had but two local applications from the unemployed the past month, the invitation extended by the U. S. government through the postoffice. In this connection it is declared that charity has been much if not too much exploited. Postmaster George B. Snyder believes trade conditions, lack of work, has been greatly exaggerated locally and that many impostors have been kept in good clover by the charity of people more generous than careful or exacting. There is quite an army of idle citizens here able to work, but who shun and flee from jobs as if they were heaps of smallpox or leprosy. In a western city there is a was a helpful charity with this motto: "Work or Walk!" It was never overworked.

If there is anyone of the poor or afflicted here who is not given attention by an official or organized body it would seem to be the fault of the poverty-stricken or the afflicted one. We already have a county infirmary, township trustees, Crittenden Home, Old Ladies' Home, Baldwin Kindergarten, Salvation Army, two or three hospitals, Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., sanitariums and the Lord knows what else. And now there is another good relief—the City Reserve Mission—of which Carl W. Hubert is the superintendent and which is to be tentatively dedicated this and tomorrow and Saturday evenings. Taking part in the exercise will be Rev. L. B. Bateman, Rev. A. A. Brown, Rev. A. L. Frazer, Supt. Hubert, Rev. C. H. Peabody, Rev. W. J. Kratz, Rev. C. R. Haysburgh, Rev. W. Carson Press, Rev. W. H. Hudnut, Rev. John Heisl with dedication sermon, L. C. Hawthorth and others. Meetings will be held nightly and on Sundays, the Christian Endeavor unions assisting. The City Reserve Mission is expected to do great good, as a similar organization has done and is doing in Cleveland.

The amount of personnel appealing that is being done here is little if any less than remarkable. The latest effort, and it is a worthy one—in fact there is perhaps none that is unworthy—was made in the public press last Monday by Robert Bentley in behalf of the Y. W. C. A., which he did much to promote, prosper and make permanent. Mr. Bentley pointed out that the institution was not self-supporting and that it was not expected or intended to be. He also indulged in some harsh phrases or acrimony that did not seem entirely in good order. You can not expect to get contributions by carrying any class of the public—from the class carried, rev. Billy Sunday is so far the only expert known to make them jar loose after he has raked them fore and aft. But Bill is one in some millions. Mr. Bentley also dug into the young men who go to the opera house with their best girls and pay $3 for a couple of seats. Mr. Bentley holds these young exquisites would make better husbands if they gave that $3 each to the Y. W. C. A. And, then, he said, some folks are likely here who came since the Y. W. C. A. was built—largely by the late Miss Sella Todd—many have come in who will not help the excellent institution, but had better remained away or get out. Robert, that's no way to properly appeal! To get the coin for charity you have got to have some charity or sentiment and utterance.

In spite of the war and with the exception of some staples like flour, sugar, etc.—the old standbys—nearly all meats, fish, oysters, canned goods, are lower here than for a long time, especially in the fish line, and it being lent at that. The reduction is likely largely due to a number of newcomers here in the meat, fish, produce and fruit lines. The other fellows had to make cuts or their customers would have cut them.

At their meeting Monday the county commissioners appropriated $1500 for a school exhibit building to be erected on the Canfield fair grounds. Attorney R. C. Huey has been in Columbus for several days conferring with Gov. Willis, his old instructor at Ada. It is understood that Mr. Huey can have a good state job if he wants it.

Burglars visited two houses on Tod avenue Sunday night and secured considerable plunder.

W. B. Yost, mayor of Bedford, O., has accepted a position in this city and will move here, making it necessary for him to resign as mayor of Bedford.

Several new motorcycles have been purchased by the city and they will be used by men who will enforce the law against automobile speeding. The motorcycle cops will number 11. Owners of machines who have not secured 1915 licenses will be arrested if they do not do so very shortly.

Divorce cases galore have been started in the county courts. During the months of January and February the board of education purchased 248 pairs of shoes for poor children at a cost of $496. The annual banquet of the county bar association has been postponed until March 12.

Judge John W. Davis announced Monday that not all the cases in which mothers' pensions had been asked for in this county could be reached for some time. In all 200 cases have been brought to his attention, and each case must be thoroughly investigated. The county commissioners have levied $10,000 to pay mothers' pensions for the year and this sum it is thought will meet all requirements.

The Youngstown Telephone Co. has purchased the Moyer property on East Rayen avenue and manager G. G. King announces that a modern two-story building will be erected without delay at a cost of $200,000. The company is now spending a large amount of money to make the telephone service the best in the county.

Everett Armstrong, who stole a piano from a colored church on Hillman street some months since, was sentenced Monday by Judge Barnum to an indeterminate term in the Mansfield reformatory.

Members of the state agricultural commission and state experiment farms met here Tuesday with the county commissioners and started making the rounds of the farms offered for a county experiment farm.

F. J. Whelan has had a Central Union Telephone Co. for $10,000 damages. He tripped over a guy wire nearly four years ago and was injured.

Joe Billitt, 11 years old, used gasoline instead of oil to hurry a fire he was building at his home Sunday morning, and the burns he received proved fatal.

Frank Weick, 42, died Saturday. John Shearer, 53, passed away Monday. Marshall Mervin, 74, was called to his reward Monday.

Pfau & Paunce will erect a four-story garage on Pratt street.

There was a mad dog scare on Wirt street Sunday when a little girl was bitten by a canine that gave evidence of having rabies.

A good roads law is being framed to take the place of the one under which the commissioners of district No. 1 have worked for several years. One part of the plan provides for keeping in repair all roads that have been built.

During February 46 building permits were issued with a total valuation of $79,650.

The iron and steel mills of the valley are running steadier than for several months. Slowly but surely business conditions are improving.

If the hearts of the women of Youngstown and for miles around are not made glad with a supply of new silks it will not be the fault of the big stores that are having great sales of the flax product.

Senator Atlee Pomerene on Wednesday announced his nominations for the United States Naval academy as follows: John Walters, Ravenna, principal; Clayton Merwin, Youngstown, first alternate.

Attorney L. A. Manchester has been admitted to practice in the U. S. supreme court.
